INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT STATISTICS, QUEENSLAND, 1972-73

Details of industrial accidents shown in this bulletin for 1972-73 were derived from compensative accidents occurring during this period. All data previously collected and published up to 30 June 1972 were on the basis of "finalised claims only" and this should be borne in mind if comparisons with statistics for these earlier periods are attempted. For further explanatory notes and definitions see page 2.

- * In 1972-73 there were 55,280 accidents resulting in work injuries which caused 904,013 days of lost time through temporary disability as well as 73 fatalities and 680 cases of permanent disability. In addition, 5 deaths intimated but not accepted for compensation by 31 December 1973 were not included in the tabulations.
- * The average duration of temporary disability was 16.6 days for males and 16.3 days for females.
- * The type of accident accounting for the greatest time loss through temporary disability was over-exertion or strenuous movement. This type involved a loss of 225,749 days for males and 27,083 days for females.
- * In addition to the figures for work injuries, 1,381 occurrences of occupational diseases were recorded. Occupational diseases accounted for 45 fatalities, 54 cases of permanent disability, and 30,476 days of lost time through temporary disability. In addition 9 fatalities intimated but not accepted for compensation by 31 December 1973 were not included in the tabulations.

Explanatory Notes

In Queensland, workers' compensation insurance is confined solely to the State Government Insurance Office. An employer, by a policy with that office issued under the "Workers' Compensation Act 1916-1973", indemnifies himself against all sums for which, in respect of injury to any worker employed by him, he may become legally liable by way of compensation or damages in relation to that injury. Claims made on the State Government Insurance Office are therefore the sole source of information on compensative industrial accidents.

Self-employed persons are not obliged to insure, hence a number of workers in primary industry and in the professions etc. are not recorded. Also members of the Police Force and the Australian Government Service, including the P.M.G.'s Department, are excluded by the provisions of the Act, and coverage is thereby restricted in the administrative and communications industries.

By definition, the scope of the collection is limited to include only those injured employees who lost at least a full shift from work as a result of an accident. Accidents occurring during recess periods or on journeys to or from work are not classified as industrial accidents, but some details of such accidents are presented in Table 17. In addition, details of persons who were compensated for a disease arising out of work or the working environment appear in Tables 15, 16, and 17. Cases of occupational disease precipitated or aggravated by some accidental event are classified to the antecedent work injury rather than to the disease.

Some of the following definitions have been altered for 1972-73 in order to facilitate tabulation on a date of occurrence basis:

An Industrial Accident is defined as any compensated work injury or a compensated occupational disease causing death, permanent disability, or absence of the injured person from work during the entire interval corresponding to the hours of his or her regular shift on any one or more calendar days subsequent to the date of the injury.

Fatal injuries or diseases have been included in the tabulations on the condition that they were accepted by the State Government Insurance Office on or before 31 December 1973.

Permanent Disability is an injury or disease which does not cause death but results in the complete loss or loss of use of any member or any part of a member of the body, or any permanent impairment of functions of the body or part thereof. For 1972-73 all permanent disabilities have been tabulated unless rejected for workers' compensation.

Temporary Disability is an injury or disease which does not result in death or permanent impairment but renders the injured person unable to perform a regularly established job during the entire time interval corresponding to the hours of a full regular shift. For 1972-73 temporary disabilities are only included in the tabulations if compensation commences within six months of the accident.

Duration of Temporary Disability refers to the number of calendar days lost rather than to the actual number of working days lost.

Type of Accident is the event which directly resulted in the injury, i.e. the manner in which contact was made between the injured person and the object or substance causing the injury.

Agency Related to the Accident is the agency, i.e. working environment, production equipment, animal, etc., which, because of its hazardous nature or condition, precipitated the event designated as the accident.
